AT THE CAPITAL.

NUGGETS FROM THE STATE HOUSE. The routine work of the various departments at the state capitol is about all that is being done, and matters of state interest are very scarce. In the auditor's departmens the registration of bonds is occupying the time of the clerical force. Auditor Babcock informs us that all of the counties of the state bave sent in their abstracts of assessments, excepting Keith and Hayes, which are expected to make their returns very soon.

The office of the commissioners of public lands and buildings was filled to overflowing yesterday with contractors figuring on bids for the new state buildings to be erected in case the bids come within the amounts approprlated by the legislature, which are as follows: F r the Home of the Friendless at Lincoln, $9,000; for the three story brick reform school at Kearney, $26,500; and for the Home for the Feeble Minded at Beatrics, $45 COO. The bids will be opened to day by the commissioners, who will make the awards at once, if within the amount above BAHANNAN'S CHANCES. The supreme court will sit to-day, and it is expected that an opinion will be handed down in the near future. Bohannan is now board-ing at the Otoe county jail, under sentence of death, for the slaying of Cook, who differed with him in the spelling of the word "pedler." This first trial was in the werd pedier. This has that was in the district court for Laneaster county, where he was convicted of manslaughter. A second trial was granted, and a change of venue ta-ken to Otoe county, where he was convicted of murder. The question before the court is, whether, having been convicted only of manslaughter on an indictment, one of the counts of which included murder in the first degree, the second trial and conviction for murder was not in contravention of the constitution of the United States, guaranteeing immunity against a second trial for the same offense.

The distribution of the compiled statutes for 1885 has been commenced in the secretary of state's office.

A BURNING DISGRACE. The attention of your reporter was called to the school building at the corner of Fifteenth and M streets, which is a disgrace to the city, and in strange contrast to the many fine school structures of Lincoln. This building which is an old, rickety, story and a half frame building, known as the Central School House, two rooms of which are in the basement, or rather cellar, and in which are taught about one hundred scholars, cannot help but be a hotbed of disease. They are so damp that the plastering is continually falling off, and the ventilation—well, there is no ventilation—and the small of coal gas is often very perceptible. This is a matter of vital interest to the children who attend this school, and the school board should move in the mat-

His daughter is a bright, good looking girl of eighteen years, and one stands abashed at the possible debasement to which this man's brutish nature may have

DAVIS' DENIAL

OF THE CHARGES MADE AGAINT HIM BY THE HEE.

CHICAGO, August 13th, 1885 .- Editor Oma ha Daily BEE: -Sir: -In your evening issue of last Saturday and your morning issue of Monday, you chose to make an unwarranted at-tack upon me, and charge me with various a statement of liabilities by Mr. Duffy be-thing calculated to reflect aeriously against my professional and personal standing and integrity, apparently with the object of integrity, apparently with the object of doing me the greatest possible injury in my business. I deny every charge contained in the article mentioned, and pronounce it an outrazeous slander.

The person who gave you the points you publish, certainly knew but little of me or my work. The principal portion of the article seems to be a desire to prove collinion between Nathan Shelton and me. a thing absolutely preposterous and absurd, for I doubt if a more hitter camity exists between any other two men in this country than between us. This fact is well-known to nearly every person in Omaha and elsewhere, who knows both of us. I have so poor an opinion of Mr. Shelton and his business methods, that I could not, without sacrificing every vestige of manhood in me, consent to have any business relations me, consent to have any business relations with him, no matter what their nature might

In order that the facts may be known as they exist, I will briefly state what business relations have existed between us in the past, and as they are parrectly well known to the officers of the Omaha Water Works Co., Hon James E. Bovd, mayor, Sidney E. Lecke, of the Omaha White Lead Works, and former Vice President of the Water Works Co., and many others, you may verify my state ments by inquiry of these gentlemen.
Shortly after the award of the contracts for the construction of the water works at Omaha.

Shortly after the award of the contracts for the construction of the water works at Omaha, and during the fall of 1870, Mr. Shelt in breame treasurer and business manages of the company, and proceeded at once wish the construction. Mr. J. D. Co-k of Teledo, O., was the consulting engineer and has prepared general plans for the work No engineer had been employed regularly to supervise the work daily, and Shelton, for some reasons of his own, made radical departures from Mr. Cook's plans, and proceeded in this manner until in March, 1881, when a proposition was made to me to assume the engineering charge of the construction of the works, which I did on March 10. I found the work in very bad condition, and much of it in such shape that it had to be done over again. It seems as if Shelton had but one policy, and that was to build the works as shabbily as possible, and to have them look well on the surface, and as my only desire was to protect the interests of the other atockholders, and secure the best possible construction, there arose immediately a considerable difference between us, and from July, 1881, until I severed my connection with the works, in July, 1882, Shelton did everything in his power to defeat my efforts and prevent the work from being properly executed, so that it was not not long before our feelings reason when the most prominent engineering papers of this country, of false and every exacted statements concerning the finanproval, in one of the most prominent engineering papers of this country, of false and exaggerated statements concerning the financial condition of the company and the cost of the works. He failed entirely, and I exposed his duplicity, and from that time until the present, there has been war butween us, and Shalten has never regulated, an exportantic. Shelton has never neglected an opportunity to do all he could to defeat me in all my busi ness undertakings, but without success.

He has written many mean, insinuating letters, making all manner of false charges to such parties as he thought he could influence against me, and has, I understand, even made personal visits to the places where I have been employed on engineering work, to endeavor to influence public opinion sgainst me, until the fact that our relations are not very friendly and cordial ones is parfectly well known to every pressure at all prominent as an known to every person at all prominent as an engineer or contractor for work connected with the construction of city waterworks.

As I have said above, it is easy for you or any one who cares to inquire into the matter, to verify my statements, and it is beyond my comprehension why any person, except for malicious reasons, could accuse me of being in collusion with such a man, and under such circumstances. Neither Shelton nor any person associated with him, has ever, in any way, had any direct or indirect connection with or interest in any engineering or contract work intrusted to me since I severed my con-nection with the Omaha Waterworks Co., except as I have said above, in mean and under-handed efforts to defeat my objects, and prevent the success of my work.

The charge in your paper that the cost of the works was increased, by my mismanage-ment, some $75,000 more than it should have been, is false, the fact being that much un-necessary expense was caused by the outrage-ously bad work which was done under Shelton's management, and the purchase of faulty machinery, before I assumed charge of the work, but the amount was not so great as Exhibitors Rapidly Applying for Space at the Omaha Fair.

A Noted Balloonist to Make an Ascen sion-The Amphitheatre Completed.

As the time for the fair approaches great activity is to be found in the office of Secretary Wheeler. In fact so busy has that gentleman been, for the past few days that a newspaper man in seach of facts has hardly been able to get s moment's conversation with him, Entries have been steadily pouring into the office, and the space provided for exhibits has been nearly exhausted. "It is only a little over two weeks before the fair opens, and all who intend to make entries will have to hurry up," said Mr. Wheeler yesterday. "We are making extensive enlargements for exhibits, but the space is all being taken very To-day I received from the managers of the Dodge county fair, informing me that they had changed the date of holding their exhibition from September 8, 9, and 10, to September 2, and 3, so as to allow their Col. Aiken, join exhibitors to bring their exhibits to the Omaha fair. Word also came from Mat Colvin, of Kansas City, that he intends to enter his stable of ten trotters for the races. Mr. McShane, who returned Saturday from Illinois, met many prominent horsemen, and received assurances of liberal entries in the regular speed classes. Mr. Garneau, as slready announced, has Colora secured Phyllis and Joe Pavis for a illness. spec'al trot, and they will make an interesting race. Phyllis has a record of 2:15, while Joe Davis can do his mile in 2:16 The purse is $3,000, with an additional $500 provided 2:19 or batter is made. Better horses than these never trotted in Nebraska. Then we have numerous entries of blooded cattle and hogs, and many other attractive features. The new amphithsatre was completed today by the contractors, and to morrow it will be turned over to the association, Prof. Oscar Hunt, the well known balconfet, arrived in the city yesterday en route to Helena, Mont., where he will give a balloon ascension at the coming during the fair week. It is expected that this will be one of the great attrac-tions of the day. Prof. Hunt is an old hand at the business, and does some skillful trapeze work, while suspended from the balloon. His balloon carries no basket-only a set of trapeze bars. He most startling and finest feats are done while hanging from the bars a mile or two above terra firms. Fruit Peddlers.

The consumption of California fruits as been largely increased through the efficiency of the street peddlers, remarked prominent commission merchant These street peddlers get what the deal ers call the tall ends. As soon as a car load of fruit is received at a commission house it is all sorted over and the softer, over ripe truit thrown out. As a general thing one of the older members of the pedding fraternity calls around and gets prices on a pile of this condemned fruit and then clubs all the peddlers together who make up a small purre. In most cases $25 is paid down as a matter of good faith and to bind the peddlers to take the whole amount agreed upon. These purchases, of what may be called job lots of fruit, range all the way from $50 to $100. After the bargain is made each peddler pays for each box of fruit as he takes it, and in the end, if the squeement has been carried out, the $25 is refunded. They sell from twenty-five to thirty boxes a day, sometimes as high as fifty, and on Satordaya even more. This season, thus have sold out and counted the money in their pockets. Sometimes they lose; but as a rule they are shrewd enough to come out a few dollars better off. If it were not for them the commission men would lose heavily on each car, as a regular dealer will not buy over rips fruit. They la no wice injure the trade of the regular retail dealers as very little of the fruit which they sell is carried home for tamily use, but is eaten on the alrest out of hand.
